

Art Deco in Newark

Commentary and Guided Tour

Sponsored by the Newark History Society

Co-sponsored by the Art Deco Society of New York and the Newark Preservation & Landmarks Committee

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2004 AT 2:00 PM

Gather in the Waiting Room of Pennsylvania Station, Newark.

Reception at 744 Broad Street following tour.

HISTORICAL OVERVIEW

Charles Cummings, City Historian and Assistant Director, Newark Public Library

PENNSYLVANIA STATION, SCIENCE HIGH,
VERIZON BUILDING, AND 744 BROAD STREET

Glen Leiner, Art Deco Society of New York

Free; RSVP by September 7 by calling 973.736.3195

Security note: Cameras will be permitted at Pennsylvania Station only by advance arrangement.

Please note when making RSVP.

*View of Newark in the 1930s from the Pennsylvania Railroad lift bridge showing the Federal Trust Building (1930);
The National Newark and Essex Building (1931); and the Leftcourt-Newark Building (1930). Photo courtesy Newark Public Library*